YMCA OF AUSTIN
2014 Community Impact Report / #BeCauseY
DEAR FRIENDS,

The YMCA of Austin is an engine of transformation in our community. People come to the Y to learn, have fun and get fit. But they soon discover new skills, confidence, a sense of well-being and a connection to the world around them.

Like those we serve, our success depends on our willingness to transform how we approach our work. We must continually listen, respond and adapt. In doing so, we truly strengthen the foundations of our community.

In 2014, we transformed the lives of more than 175,000 children, teens, and adults who walked through the doors of our local facilities. We also provided more than $2.6 million in financial assistance to more than 40,000 individuals so they could benefit from Y programs and memberships, regardless of their financial circumstance.

Through our leadership of the Texas State Alliance of YMCAs, for first time in our history, we leveraged statewide advocacy efforts to write legislation for HEPA (Healthy Eating and Physical Activity) standards, and we worked with local ISDs to implement those standards in afterschool programs.

Our MEND (Mind, Education, Nutrition, Do It!) childhood obesity intervention program, funded by the St. David’s Foundation, has the potential to transform lives across the country. YMCA of the USA selected MEND to be its signature childhood obesity initiative and will roll out the program nationwide in coming years. One day we’ll be able to say it all started here in Austin!

Because we recognize the importance of nutrition in creating optimal health, we expanded nutritional education to all YMCA of Austin branches through collaborations with Sustainable Food Center, CommUnity Care and Round Rock ISD. We served 10,000 nutritious meals through the Walmart Foundation’s Year-Round Meal Program, in partnership with CitySquare. And we celebrated the grand opening of the North Austin Community Garden at the City of Austin / YMCA North Austin Community Recreation Center.

Responding to the rapidly changing face of our community, we introduced a new Young Adult membership category while, simultaneously, expanding programs addressing the unique needs of Seniors. We also partnered with Seton to create new outpatient adaptive needs programming. As a result, five Austin Y branches now offer Special Needs Adaptive Programs (SNAP), including swimming, gymnastics, basketball and camp.

To meet the demands of living in one of America’s fastest-growing cities, we also laid groundwork for future capital projects at our Hays, Springs and Northwest Family YMCAs, along with our 85-acre Camp Cypress, that will increase our capacity to touch more lives.

In the following pages, we’ll highlight a few of the countless transformations that take place each day at our Y. Although the needs of our community never stop evolving, neither do we. By embracing change, we ensure our ability to innovate and remain vital well into the future.

WE ARE JOINED TOGETHER BY A SHARED COMMITMENT TO NURTURING THE POTENTIAL OF KIDS, PROMOTING HEALTHY LIVING AND FOSTERING A SENSE OF SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

WE BELIEVE THAT LASTING PERSONAL AND SOCIAL CHANGE CAN ONLY COME ABOUT WHEN WE WORK TOGETHER TO INVEST IN OUR KIDS, OUR HEALTH AND OUR NEIGHBORS.

At the YMCA of Austin, we continually seek new ways to address community needs. That is why, after being approached by a female member who hadn’t been able to swim in years due to religious customs, we created the Women’s-Only Swim program.

Since then, women of all backgrounds have found a guaranteed safe and comfortable place to swim every week. YMCA member Harper Ray is a prime example. Harper finished cancer treatment and was looking for a way to resume normal activities while participating in her favorite pastime, swimming. But with diminished confidence in her abilities, she felt intimidated about getting back into the pool.

“The Women’s-Only Swim Program was really important in getting me back on my feet. It helped me build my strength, my endurance, my confidence. Whether you’ve had a mastectomy, have special needs or other body issues, to just be active with other women in a supportive environment is a positive thing.”

Through SwimATX, a ‘water confidence class’ for high school students, 88 teens were set on a productive career path and given an opportunity to improve their short-term economic circumstance. Launched as a pilot program with two Austin high schools, and in partnership with Austin ISD and the City of Austin, SwimATX served zip codes with some of the highest incidence of drowning and the lowest employment opportunities. Swim instruction took place during school hours at YMCA and City of Austin pools and provided P.E. credit for participating teens. Upon completion, teens received scholarships for free participation in Lifeguard Certification classes and guaranteed employment, making pools safer for all.

“IT HELPED ME BUILD MY STRENGTH, MY ENDURANCE, MY CONFIDENCE”
WOMEN’S-ONLY SWIM

ACCESS FOR ALL. Honoring religious customs was the impetus for the YMCA of Austin’s Women’s-Only Swim program. In 2014, 288 women and girls who haven’t been able to enjoy pools or the joy of swimming for years had a guaranteed place to enjoy the freedom of the water. As women with other physical and emotional obstacles began attending, the benefits of a women’s-only swim was quickly realized. This aquatic program embodies our mission of access for all.

PROJECT S.A.F.E

LIFESAVING SKILLS. Texas lost more than 68 children to fatal drownings in 2014 and 55% of Texas youth did not meet recommended levels of physical activity. The YMCA of Austin, in collaboration with Safe Kids Austin and Dell Children’s Medical Center, is working toward the goal of providing all first-graders with instruction on Safety, Aquatics and Fitness Education – Project S.A.F.E. This free program, now in its sixth year, served more than 1,700 students in 2014 and expanded its lifesaving instruction to include youth at Lucy Read Pre-K.

Your contribution of $1,000 will support Project S.A.F.E. instruction for an entire first-grade class. AustinYMCA.org/donate-today
EARLY LEARNING READINESS

BRIDGING THE GAP. With a focus on increasing the school readiness of young children in low-income families, the Early Learning Readiness (ELR) program bridged the gap for 200 children and their caregivers in 2014. Through collaborations with community partners such as Any Baby Can, Literacy Coalition and Austin ISD, the YMCA was able to expand this signature program in under-served communities throughout Austin. For those without access to other early learning opportunities, ELR continues to provide an important pathway to educational equality.

$1,500 will enable one family to participate in a 38-week class

AFTERSCHOOL CARE

BUILDING FOUNDATIONS. A cornerstone program of the Y, Afterschool Care gives children a secure, supportive environment to develop scholastic skills. New snacks, the implementation of CATCH physical and nutrition activities, and a move toward meeting the Healthy Eating and Physical Activity Standards (HEPA) are three changes the YMCA of Austin has implemented to help keep kids healthy, happy, and active. Offered at 15 licensed sites in three Austin area school districts, the program provided enrichment activities for more than 2,400 youth in 2014.

Who says Facebook is a waste of time? That’s where Mindy Guevara learned about the free YMCA Early Learning Readiness (ELR) program at the Uphaus Early Childhood Center, which is supported with the Y’s Annual Campaign funds. Mindy enrolled her four-year-old daughter, Janu, and has seen the results.

“She enjoyed the social interactions, and it introduced her to a classroom setting,” she says. “They sing songs, dance, count, learn numbers and letters, and develop fine motor skills. I’m a huge advocate for this program.” Since Janu’s “graduation,” the Guevara family have become members at the YMCA, which has become a haven for the whole family.

“We love the Child Watch, the free exercise classes for kids, and ballet on Saturdays,” she says. “I try to go as often as I can to the exercise classes. Sometimes that’s the only 90 minutes I get to myself during the week. In the summer, we can spend an entire half-day at the Y. It’s just a great place.”

YMCA of Austin Program Services staffer Ishmael Behhorst gladly gives back to the community because of his unique position helping families find ways to afford various programs aimed at youth development and educational enrichment. “Working within YMCA education programs you realize that every kid has a story and that story is barely developing,” he says. “You get a chance to play a major role in that kid’s story, in their development, in their future. If you get the opportunity to invest in them through programs, program subsidies or just teaching them the Y’s character values... you’ve already done something great.”
"THERE IS NO PROGRAM LIKE IT. IT’S LITERALLY UNPARALLELED IN TERMS OF THE ACHIEVEMENTS AND EXPERIENCES THAT YOU CAN ATTAIN"

Those are the words of Del Valle High School senior Jacob Shaw, one of the more than 200 area middle and high school students who have benefitted from YMCA Youth & Government, our hands-on civic engagement and leadership program.

"Youth & Government has been the most integral source for my wanting to further myself in politics and government in the future, having participated in district, state and even national competitions. We practice our Youth & Government cases as though we were attorneys representing real clients, so we have to do our best job, even if we're not in front of real judges. That really impacts me, because I’m able to take a real-life look at something that I’m only doing for recreational purposes."

The YMCA of Austin subsidizes Youth & Government with more than $40,000 in funds raised through our Annual Campaign, enabling more than 200 future leaders like Jacob to gain first-hand experience in state government, while improving their public speaking, leadership and critical thinking skills.

THE VOICE OF LEADERSHIP

"Youth & Government has rid me of my past ignorance about how our government works. I’ve learned to appreciate our country and the hard work put into the government system. And it teaches me to be a better leader."
YOUTH & GOVERNMENT

TAKE THE LEAD. YMCA studies show that Youth & Government alumni are statistically more likely than average citizens to engage in crucial aspects of American society like voting and volunteering for political campaigns. In 2014, more than 200 teens developed essential leadership and citizenship skills through Youth & Government participation; strengthening the foundations of community one student at a time.

A gift of $250 will send one future leader to the District and State Youth & Government Conference. AustinYMCA.org/donate-today

ADVOCACY

SPEAK UP. We know that when we speak and act with one voice, we can move individuals, communities, and the Lone Star State forward. In the 2014 Legislative Session, the Texas State Alliance of YMCAs, chaired by YMCA of Austin CEO James Finck, was instrumental in authoring key legislation for afterschool healthy eating standards and appropriations for diabetes prevention. Alongside the new Texas YMCA Legislative Caucus, the Alliance is raising its collective voice to advocate for all Texans.

Join the Y movement and pledge to support a healthier Texas. AustinYMCA.org/programs/advocacy
PARALYMPIC EXPERIENCE

ALL IN. While a great way to raise disability awareness, the Paralympic Experience also serves to break down potential social barriers and support physical fitness. In 2014, this program helped more than 100 individuals understand and experience life from another angle - a walk in their wheels. A big thank you to the Austin Rec’ers for their generous donation of equipment, which enables the program to serve more youth and adults than ever before. In 2014, the Y’s TownLake branch became a Paralympic Sports Club, recognized by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

SNAP
Special Needs Adaptive Programs

PART OF THE TEAM. Being physically active can present a challenge for children with special needs. But just because it is challenging doesn’t mean that it is impossible. The 700+ athletes that participated in YMCA of Austin SNAP Aquatics, Fitness and Gymnastics in 2014 are the proof. Through collaborations with local partners like Capital Area AMBUCS, the Y has been able to provide avenues for connection, activity and success.

“OUR COUNTRY COULD USE MORE OF THESE TYPES OF ORGANIZATIONS THAT FOCUS ON HELPING PEOPLE TO IMPROVE THEMSELVES”

Those are the words of YMCA member Russell Scott. Russell spent years becoming one of the best cyclists in America. After a multiple sclerosis diagnosis, Russell realized his life would be forever altered, but he didn’t let that affect his passion for pushing himself as hard as he can.

“The YMCA is a great place to work out. I have some special needs, and my workouts are not what they once were. But the Y has enabled me to work out on a regular basis all year long. These workouts are partially motivated by the great people that I interact with while there, but it is more than that.

“During the recession, when our family was hit with some serious financial difficulties, the Y made it possible for our family to continue using their facilities on a regular basis even though we could not afford it. Our country could use more of these types of organizations that focus on helping people to improve themselves.”

A PIONEERING SPIRIT

Joe Fischer was an active, healthy young man until an accident paralyzed him from the waist down. Instead of wallowing in self-pity, he uses his energy and passion to help kids exercise while learning about people with special needs. Today as a YMCA staff member, Joe has pioneered adaptive programs such as the Paralympic Experience and Row with Joe, which help to break down barriers and expand minds. One grateful parent shared, “My children really enjoy participating in the wheelchair sports with you on Tuesdays. They not only look forward to your class, but they also look up to you. Your support and encouragement really help with their self-esteem. Keep up the great work!”

MEND
Mind, Exercise, Nutrition, Do it!

FORMING NEW HABITS. Healthy meals and physical activity fuel a healthy, happy and productive life. In 2014, more than 200 youth & their parents learned, exercised, and shared in the development of healthy new habits, side-by-side in 2014. MEND, the Y’s family-focused childhood obesity intervention program has served 1,035 families free of charge since the program’s inception in 2009. MEND builds health.

YEAR-ROUND MEAL PROGRAM
FEEDING YOUNG MINDS. Food for thought is a reality for the 475 food-insecure children who were able to think about more than their next meal. Thanks to the generous support of the Walmart Foundation, the YMCA of Austin provided 10,000 meals, essential nutrition to children in need during the summer months and after school. Fun and educationally enriching activities help to keep children healthy, active and well-nourished all year long.

"I'VE SEEN MY SON’S WAY OF THINKING CHANGE"

The YMCA of Austin was the first Y in the U.S. to launch MEND (Mind, Exercise, Nutrition, Do It!), a free childhood obesity intervention program for kids ages 7-13 and their families. The experience of Claudia Morin and her son Jesus is typical of families who have seen big results.

“I’ve seen my son’s way of thinking change, and it’s helped us as parents. It’s easier for us to make them understand that eating healthy is good for them.

“It makes me feel happy to see them applying the results of what they’ve learned. I feel good that this is going to help them now to have a healthy life. My family has a history of diabetes. My father is diabetic, and I don’t want my children to have those same problems.

“I have talked to friends who have kids who are overweight and passed along informational flyers from my son’s school and tried to encourage them to also become involved.”

WE ARE WHAT WE EAT

Learning to shop smarter, cook healthier meals and eat more fruits and vegetables is the result for 317 participants in The Happy Kitchen/La Cocina Alegre®, a program of the Sustainable Food Center, and delivered in part by the YMCA of Austin. Thanks to generous funding from the Walmart Foundation, and partnerships with CommUnity Care and Round Rock Independent School District, the Y was able to provide this program free of charge to low-income individuals in under-served communities throughout Austin.

"I WANTED TO SHARE WITH YOU A STORY OF BREAKING THROUGH BARRIERS AND ACHIEVING GREAT SUCCESS."

Those are the words of Cassandra, the proud mom of Andrew and John, two young athletes at the YMCA of Austin.

"Andrew and John were born prematurely at thirty weeks. Andrew stayed in the hospital for over a month, and John stayed in for over three months. At one point, I was told John wouldn’t make it and to prepare for the worst. Thankfully both boys survived, but had to be constantly monitored and participate in early childhood programs for developmental purposes. When the boys were a year and a half, Andrew was diagnosed with autism. Andrew faced many challenges, including being nonverbal with extreme behaviors. John was on the path of achieving his educational goals, but lacked a sense of confidence and individuality.

"I contacted the YMCA Youth Sports program. I explained my situation and asked if they were willing to enroll my children in t-ball, but one child had special needs. Not only did they say yes, but they enrolled my kids in every possible sport without hesitation. The coaches, parents, and other children welcomed the boys and accepted Andrew even though he was different.

"I’m proud to say this is Andrew and John’s second year participating in the Youth Sports program at the Y and they love it. John’s confidence and self-esteem have improved. He is actually very good at football and t-ball and has the best personality. Andrew enjoys running around the basketball court, football/ soccer field, and playing in the dugout. He waits patiently for snacks, takes team photos, and smiles all the time.

"I believe the boys courageously broke through barriers to achieve tremendous success. I’m confident that part of their success was due to the YMCA giving Andrew and John an opportunity to be apart of a TEAM that encouraged ability and HOPE."

PUTTING UP A FIGHT. Beating cancer and living a stronger, longer life filled with opportunities is the outlook for participants of the YMCA’s cancer survivor program, LIVESTRONG at the YMCA. In addition to physical benefits, this program focuses on the emotional well-being of survivors and their families by providing a supportive community where people impacted by cancer can connect during treatment and beyond.

“I’M SETTING THE EXAMPLE FOR MY FAMILY”

Dana Jones went to the doctor for a normal checkup when he was told his cholesterol and triglycerides numbers were so bad he could die at any moment. He was pointed to the YMCA of Austin’s Diabetes Prevention program and has since lost 30 pounds and found new energy with his kids and at work.

“Basically, I was dying. I was almost 300 pounds. My numbers were horrible. I’d been smoking for a long period of time, eating the wrong foods...I was not doing well.

“It was great that the YMCA was able to give us this program and all this knowledge about what we’re eating. I’m starting to exercise more, to be more engaged at work. I’m not as tired as I used to be. My mind, my thinking, the choices I’m making are a lot clearer.

“It’s also trickled down to my family, to my wife in terms of what we’re eating for dinner. My kids are even getting involved. I’m able to be active with them, and they see a happier dad. I’m setting the example for my family.”

LOOKING AHEAD

Two brain surgeries to remove tumors left Roger Mommaerts with some loss of movement on his right side. It took a while to work up the nerve, but starting, and completing, the 12-week LIVESTRONG at the YMCA program and working with a personal trainer at the Hays Communities YMCA has reinvigorated Roger. “It was amazing actually because they measure you before and after, strength-wise. I had gained 40 pounds of lifting strength in my right leg and 20 in my arm, and it was a visible change. It was like ‘Wow, just this 12-weeks did make a difference.’ That’s what opened my eyes to the fact that this was really working, and I needed to keep doing this.”

A $150 contribution provides a free 12-week program for one survivor and a gift of $400 will enable one participant to benefit from our Diabetes Prevention Program.

ST. DAVID’S FOUNDATION
St. David’s Foundation has been a visionary partner with the YMCA of Austin since 2009 when it began funding for a new pilot program to help address childhood obesity, MEND (Mind, Exercise, Nutrition, Do it!). The first of its kind in the country, MEND’s fun, family-focused program demonstrates new ways to be healthy and helps families support their kids, ages 7-13, in reaching a healthy weight. Through the amazing contributions to the MEND Foundation/YMCA totaling nearly $1.2 million, more than 95 program sessions have been offered impacting more than 1,000 families.

Ymca of the USA
A ‘Group Lessons Swim Innovation’ grant from the YMCA of the USA Strategic Initiatives Fund enabled the Y to provide swim lessons to 350 kids from underserved communities free of charge.

BBVA Compass
Funding from BBVA Compass, enabled the YMCA to partner with Sylvan Learning and provide behind-grade-level students with small group tutoring during the YMCA Afterschool Program.

Hammill Foundation
The support provided by the Donald D. Hammill Foundation helped fund Senior Retreat, providing a valuable respite for family members who are the day-to-day caregivers for loved ones with functioning stages of Alzheimer’s and dementia.

Puett Fund of the Austin Community Foundation
Funds provided by the Puett Fund of the Austin Community Foundation allowed more than 315 youth to experience flag football in a safe and comfortable setting, providing necessary equipment to enhance their experience.

Burdine Johnson
1,800 low-income citizens have been provided reduced cost memberships at the Hays Communities YMCA in Buda thanks to a generous grant from the Burdine Johnson Foundation.

CONTINUING TO GROW
Increasingly, the YMCA of Austin is a destination of choice for area residents. With recent facility renovations, upgrades to equipment, the addition of a new ‘Young Adult’ membership category, program expansion outside of our four walls, the Y remains a leader in providing health & wellness opportunities for all. Through Y members and program participants, the YMCA served nearly 175,000 individuals in 2014.

FINANCIALS 2014
Strong financial growth and management ensures the YMCA of Austin can continue its mission to meet community needs and support personal and social change.

A. JAY RIMOVSKY

A commitment to service has been the hallmark of A. Jay Rimovsky’s tenure as a member of the YMCA of Austin Metropolitan Board of Directors. Since joining the board in 2012, A. Jay has brought an unprecedented level of energy and enthusiasm to his volunteer work. He has served on our Operations Committee, overseeing multiple major capital projects, and he Co-Chaired our successful 2014 Annual Campaign, which raised more than $1.1 million to benefit deserving neighbors.

He has also applied his 30+ years of experience in Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation to benefit those we serve. A. Jay was the catalyst in forging a new partnership between Seton and the Y to deliver an expanded range of special needs adaptive programs for persons with disabilities. From the very beginning, he has gone far beyond what we ever asked or expected from him. He’s redefined the standard for board service to our YMCA, and he’s done it with a warm smile and a generous heart.

We are grateful that A. Jay Rimovsky has been a part of our community, and we are proud to have named him as the 2014 Will W. Miller Volunteer Leadership Award recipient.

WILL W. MILLER VOLUNTEER LEADERSHIP AWARD

Presented annually to a person of high character and commitment whose leadership and vision have made only the most significant and long-lasting contributions to this Association. The Will W. Miller award recognizes a key volunteer who has not only inspired others, but has helped the YMCA of Austin enrich the lives of the people in our community.

A. JAY RIMOVSKY

“I slept and I dreamed that life is all joy. I woke and I saw that life is all service. I served and I saw that service is joy.”

Kahlil Gibran

WILL W. MILLER AWARDS RECIPIENTS

2014 Julie Kreager
LISA STUCKEY

The scope of Lisa’s volunteer work, the number of volunteer hours freely given to support the Y, the community, and her dedication and passion for the Y mission are deserving of the Gerald T. Olson Distinguished Service Award.

Lisa exemplifies in word, dollar, and deed the finest qualities of a YMCA volunteer and member of the Y community. She joined the Northwest Family YMCA Board of Managers in 2013 after participating in LIVESTRONG at the YMCA; she wanted to give back after the exceptional experience she had in that program. Lisa quickly established herself as someone with the passion, commitment, and dedication to serve the YMCA and community in a variety of ways. First, she is an active and engaged Northwest Y Board member who advocates for the Y and all its programs. Second, she actively tells her Y story during Annual Campaign and is personally very generous. Third, she works to strengthen the community by volunteering at a local high school to conduct mock interviews with students. Fourth, she is a regular participant in branch group exercise classes and special events which keeps her connected with other Y members and staff.

Lisa’s greatest contribution to the YMCA of Austin, its members, and the community, however, is as a vocal advocate for healthy living. Lisa has taught six cooking & nutrition classes (36 sessions) at various locations for the YMCA in 2014. She amassed 180 volunteer hours preparing lessons, shopping for groceries, training facilitators, and presenting The Happy Kitchen/La Cocina Alegre® class as part of the YMCA of Austin’s Health and Wellness initiative to combat chronic diseases such as obesity and diabetes. Lisa has also embarked on a project to develop a Y-branded cooking and nutrition program with other volunteers and Y staff so that more people can learn the importance of cooking and eating healthy food for themselves and their families. Her leadership, combined with her passion created a healthy eating movement within the Northwest Y that is spreading to more and more people and will have a significant impact on this community.
RECOGNIZING EXCELLENCE

The YMCA of Austin is a volunteer-led organization and relies heavily on the generosity, energy and commitment of dedicated members, volunteers, partners and staff to accomplish our mission. Recognizing such individuals serves to highlight the high quality of support the Y receives from the community.
